Mia Slavenska's Dance Program

By Dorothy Dean

Mia Slavenska's Ballet Variante opened the new season of the Monterey Peninsula Community Concert Association with a brilliant performance. The Pacific Grove High School auditorium was filled beyond capacity, once again demonstrating the enthusiastic response of the people of the Peninsula to the finest in the arts.

One of the achievements of Mia Slavenska's group is a true representation of the title Variante, arrived at through a logical progress. It was a welcome relief to see the French romantic school of music and ballet represented in the Symphonic Variations of Cesar Franck. Adherence to the strictly classical, yet comprehensible and enjoyable, was attained by the combination of Petipa's choreography and Tschaikovsky's music, in Ballet Divertissements, the second number on the program.

Mia Slavenska's conception of impressionism in the musical bonbons of Debussy was beautifully delineated through her choreography and costumes for Pictures in Porcelain, which opened the second half of the program. Gasps of delight were drawn from the audience as the curtain rose for each section of the pictures.

Madame Slavenska's spirited cakewalk revealed the full wit and satire of the music with seldom-achieved subtleness. It is difficult to realize that one person could so bridge the extremes of the emotional content of Salome and the impressionism of the more traditional forms.

Due to a severe muscle strain suffered recently Madame Slavenska was unable to dance the full program. In her stead, Nana Gollner filled in—an unexpected treat for the audience. Miss Gollner's record is a brilliant one. She starred with Colonel de Basil's original Ballet Russe and more recently with Ballet Theatre. She had been working with Madame Slavenska's company for less than a week.

In Ballet Divertissements, Miss Gollner danced the Rose Adagio with the style one always seeks in the classic ballet. The Pas de Deux from the Black Swan ballet, was thrilling to all because of its technical requirements so ably executed. Her partner in this number was the young and gifted Joey Harris.

Following the new ballet trend two numbers of Americana were included: Spirituals and Settlers' Sunday. Choreography and costumes for the latter were designed by Madame Slavenska. A glimpse of American life in the "old west"—the Sunday church service over, the people meet outdoors to chat, gossip, flirt and dance, the program notes tell us. Harold Byrns composed the modern treatment of early American tunes.

The delightful simplicity of Nana Gollner's interpretation of Madame Slavenska's role was fully supported by the entire company. The group of young dancers showed unusual capabilities in dance technique as well as humorous expression in acting. This reviewer found Settlers' Sunday an enjoyable picture of Americana performed in a thoroughly delightful manner.

As a teacher of the dance here on the Peninsula, I was grateful for the opportunity given my students to see a professional performance of such superb quality.

LIAL HOUSEWARMING

Miss Margaret Lial of Lial's Music Shop announces the opening of the Magnavox Room this evening when she and her entire crew of both the Monterey and Carmel shops will greet friends and music lovers. Miss Lial opened Carmel's first music store in 1929 on Dolores street. She moved 'round the corner to Ocean and Monte Verde just after the end of World War II. "Even during the war and the great shortage of records I stuck to my guns, or rather to my music, and never sold anything but music," said Miss Lyle. "We are very proud now to invite all our friends to preview the Magnavox Room, sound proofed for perfect reception. We have also added three new listening booths where you may hear your favorite records, any time, and stay as long as you are happy."

'49ER PARTY

Dancing, entertainment, and games will be among the attractions at the Carmel American Legion hall Saturday night, December 11, when Legionnaires and their guests will gather for the Legion's annual '49er party. The invitational affair will begin at 8:00 o'clock, according to committee chairman George Knapp.

HAVE YOU RUMMAGE?

"Although our Rummage Sale is already in full swing, having gotten off to a flying start yesterday and continuing through today and tomorrow, you can still send in—what have you?" says Mrs. Walter Kreisler, of the American Legion Women's Auxiliary. "We take practically anything that is usable from a grand piano to a baby rattle. It is all in a splendid cause as the proceeds go toward our child welfare program. Please call Mrs. Ed Ewig, Carmel 42 if you have anything to contribute and we will pick it up."

The Rummage Sale is being held in the Legion building on Dolores street all day today and tomorrow.

7 Carmel Residents In World Biography

Word Biography, a two-volume reference just published by the Institute for Research in Biography, New York City, includes sketches of seven Carmel residents, it was announced this week. They are Richard Ellis Roberts, writer; William Ritschel, artist; Dr. E. O. Sisson, educator; Robinson Jeffers, writer; Paul Kirtland Mays, landscape and mural painter; Dr. Daniel Trembly MacDougal, botanist, and Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner, retired naval officer.

Comprising 5,120 pages of biographical sketches of 40,000 living men and women distinguished in arts and sciences, politics, education, literature, commerce and industry, and military and naval affairs, the reference was prepared with the co-operation of several scientific and cultural societies and governmental agencies in 60 countries.

Editorial Column

The Voice Of Jacob

A little inside information on the cover: Ever since Phil Nesbitt came into the shop last week with a page size wood block under his arm, the wood cut that makes the cover picture for this issue of The Pine Cone, there has been a roaring controversy as to whether it's a cat or a squirrel. The mechanical department, which generally moves in a united front against the editorial, business and advertising staffs (and they have the edge on us in numbers, too) was unanimously of the opinion that it is a cat. Even a Carmel squirrel couldn't be that original and different from the race as a whole in its anatomical structure, they maintained, and to clinch the matter, whenever there was occasion to mention the color cover run, they spoke of it as "kitty." The editorial, business and advertising staffs said that of course it's a squirrel, what would a cat be doing with acorns, and anyway, leave it to a bunch of printers to be literal, critical, and fussy about details; it is one of the diseases (or virtues, however you want to look at it) of their profession.

Things were getting pretty tense when in walked Frederick Farr, committeeman for the Monterey County Democrats, with a story about George Outland speaking in Seaside, and I pointed out a page proof of our cat-squirrel propped up against a furniture case and asked, "What do you think of it?"

"Nice," he said, but his voice was thoughtful.

"It's a squirrel, you know."

"Why of course it's a squirrel. I saw that right away. Autumn is here!"

This I relayed to the mechanical department.

A few minutes later in walked Georgianna Spencer, aged twelve, with Sunset Notes. "Look," I said, "How do you like that?"

Her face brightened. "It's nice," she said, and there was no thoughtfulness in her voice, just 100 per cent pleasure.

"What is it?" I asked, beginning to feel fine.

"It's a cat . . . isn't it?"

It took the head of the advertising department, appropriately the subtlest member of this organization, to integrate the two schools of thought and make everybody happy. Whit Wellman summed up the whole business with, "The hands are the hands of Esau, but the voice is Jacob's voice."

"I don't get it." The editorial department is a few notches down in the subtlety scale, but we do our best.

Whit paraphrased, "The body is the body of a cat, but the tail is a squirrel tail."

And after all, what is the essence of squirrel!

Dedication

So, if you'll accept our cover animal at its tail value, we wish to dedicate this issue of The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal to the town squirrel, who lives in the pine tree on the corner of Ocean Avenue and Dolores street in front of Fortier's Drug Store, who frisks

"Bearded with Moss" oil painting by the distinguished Carmel artist, Thomas A. McGlynn, sold to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Barbera of Lodi. The 34x36 inch canvas is in the blue tones for which the artist is famous, the locale is Cypress Point.

Mr. Thomas A. McGlynn, who for 27 years was connected with the San Francisco school system and the University of California as lecturer and instructor in fine arts, built his home and opened his studio in Pebble Beach ten years ago. He attributes much of his success and technique to his long association with Arthur F. Matthews, internationally famed muralist of California land and sea scapes. Mr. Matthews who has won many museum prizes and honorable mentions is a regular contributor to the Carmel Art Association Galleries. There will be a number of his smaller canvases in the Galleries' Christmas exhibit now in preparation.

Stolte Awarded Contract For Pool Heating

The Carmel Lions Club project —radiant heat for the new high school aquatic center—was officially under way this week. Work is expected to begin almost immediately on the project, to be underwritten by local business men at a cost of $6,787. Funds are now being raised through a series of entertainments sponsored by the Lions, latest of which is the Norma Wiley-Monterey County Symphony program set for Tuesday of next week.

Stolte, Inc., Monterey construction firm, was awarded a contract for the job by school trustees Monday night on a bid for the above figure. Installations will include copper tubing laid in concrete slabs around both the swimming and diving pools, in floors of the locker building (to be built when funds are available) including the boys' dressing room, girls' dressing room, and check room, and necessary hot water boilers. Heating source units will be located under the future locker room.

Only other bid submitted was by Wilder and Jones, Carmel firm, with a high bid of $7,194.

Dr. Outland To Preside At Birth Of New Demo Club

Dr. George D. Outland, professor of political science and government at San Francisco State College, and former Congressman from this district, will address the Seaside Democratic Club at its initial meeting to be held at the Seaside School tonight, Friday, November 19, at 7:45 p. m.

All members of the Democratic party residing on the Monterey Peninsula are invited to attend this meeting.

Dr. Outland will discuss some of the leading personalities in Congress who will be expected to carry out President Truman's program, and he will give his ideas as to how the local Democratic clubs can assist in National and State Democratic parties.

Dr. Horace Dormody, chairman of the Monterey County Democratic Central Committee, will report on the activities of the Central Committee and its future plans.

In addition to the guest speakers, entertainment and refreshments will be provided.

Frederick S. Farr, a member of the County Democratic Central Committee will preside as temporary chairman of the meeting.

$2,000 Netted At All Saints' Bazaar

Between 9 and 5 o'clock on Wednesday the ladies of All Saints' Church earned a trifle over $2,000. "The Bazaar was probably the most crowded and successful affair of its kind ever seen in town," declared Mrs. D. Macmillan Kerr, president of the Women's Auxiliary. We actually took in cash over $1,700 for food, knitted baby wear, toys, novelties and "whatnots." And the doll "Hope" donated and beautifully wardrobed by Mrs. John W. Dickinson and Mrs. Guy Jordon, added $300 more." Mrs. Kerr further stated that $1,000 of the Bazaar proceeds will be donated by the Women's Auxiliary to the Church Building Fund. "It is our ambition to furnish all rooms in the new edifice devoted to the use of women's activities," she said.

Mayflower Descendants Honor Late Rev. Brewster, At Berkeley Meeting

Mrs. Harold Sydney Brewster, wife of the former Reverend Harold Sydney Brewster returned yesterday from Berkeley where she was attending the Mayflower Compact Annual Meeting, of which Dr. Brewster, until his death last April was Elder, being a direct descendant of Elder Brewster of Mayflower fame. Dr. Brewster, a resident of Carmel since 1922 was for 12 years preceding his retirement in 1947, rector of St. James Episcopal Church in San Francisco. Mrs. Brewster and her daughter, Miss Gertrude Brewster, still occupy the family home at San Carlos and First streets.

"Held in the Hotel Clairemont in Berkeley," Mrs. Brewster told us, "this year's Compact was attended by 85 Californians claiming direct descent from the passengers of that brave band of pilgrims. Following the welcome by the newly elected governor, Mrs. Perry Wallace MacDonald, there was a silent prayer in memory of the Rt. Reverend Louis Childs Sanford, retired Bishop of San Joaquin and former Governor of the California Branch of the Mayflower Associates—Bishop Sanford died last August; and in memory of Reverend Brewster. This meeting was in celebration of the 328th anniversary of the signing of the Compact in the cabin of the 'Good Ship Mayflower' in Provincetown Harbor, November 21, 1620."

Dr. F. A. Van Woerden, consul general of the Netherlands was the speaker of the day. The Mayflower Compact was read by Captain Winsor Dornin Wilkinson and was followed by the roll call of Mayflower descendants, Dr. Charles Francis Griffin presiding.

"I am most anxious to start a Carmel chapter of the Mayflower associates," said Mrs. Brewster, "and will appreciate having any one in Carmel, or on the Peninsula who even thinks he or she may be a descendant, getting in touch with me by calling Carmel 1309-R.

The Mayflower Compact

In the Name of God, Amen. We whose names are underwritten, the loyal subjects of our dread sovereign Lord, King James, by the grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith, etc.,

Having undertaken, for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith and honor of our King and Country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the northern parts of Virginia, do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God, and one of another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politics, for our better ordering and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the Colony: unto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In witness whereof we have hereunder subscribed our names at Cape Cod the 11 of November, in the year of the reign of our sovereign Lord, King James of England, France and Ireland the eighteenth, and of Scotland the fifty-fourth. Ano. Dom. 1620.

Of the 41 signers of the Mayflower Compact, 20 died the first year.

Enthusiasm Runs High For Elderly People's Home Plan

Carmel's City Hall overflowed Tuesday afternoon when a large and enthusiastic audience heard Mayor Fred Godwin and representatives of the Carmel Foundation, Inc., lay plans for a housing center for elderly men and women of the community. The Foundation, a recently incorporated group of citizens who have met informally for the past year for consideration of such a project, outlined general plans and selected committees in the organization meeting called by Acting Chairman Godwin.

The plan began to take form nearly 10 years ago, when the late Mrs. Emma Rendtorff interested herself and several friends in the establishment of a home for elderly Carmel residents in need of care and companionship. Mrs. Sidney A. Trevvett took up the work after Mrs. Rendtorff's death. Following lifting of wartime restrictions on buildings, Mrs. Trevvett, representing more than a dozen interested persons, conferred with Mayor Godwin on the matter; this week's meeting was the result of his invitations to representative Carmel citizens to attend an organization session.

"Our plans as yet are rather indefinite," Mrs. Trevvett said this week, "but we're going right to

Council Holds "Mop Up Day" Next Tuesday

The City Council will have a busy session Tuesday clearing up tag ends of unfinished business before Thanksgiving. There will be an adjourned meeting of the council to pass the ordinance granting a $25.00 a month raise in pay for city employees. Before the meeting, the council will meet with the planning commission to discuss removal of the concrete culvert markers installed last spring on Eleventh street. The planning commission voted several months ago to bring the unsightly posts to the attention of the council and ask their removal. At the time The Pine Cone carried a front page story in which Mayor Fred Godwin promised that action would be taken. The planning commission, however, forgot to bring the matter before the council until the November 3 meeting though they had the mayor's assurance in advance that their suggestion would meet with his approval.

Following adjournment of the council session, councilmen will meet with the Harrison Memorial Library board to review plans for the proposed addition north of the present library building, and to discuss financing arrangements.

Impersonations By Miss McKay Amuse Wayfarer Circle

The pitfalls in the path of the eager foreigner studying English in order to become a naturalized American were presented for the Wayfarer Circle on Tuesday afternoon in a series of hilarious readings by Miss Grayce McKay from the book The Education of Hyman Kaplan, by Leonard Ross. It would be difficult to discover more errors and misinterpretations of English words than optimistic Hyman managed to inject into the first grade recitations of an adult class. Miss McKay's impersonations made the struggles of the immigrants come alive, and delighted her audience.

At the opening of the meeting, conducted by Mrs. G. B. Henderson, chairman, in the social room of the church, Mrs. Fenton Grigsby read a selection from Daily Prayers for China, by a native of that country. Mrs. Howard Timbers read, for the devotions, The Parable of the Fanner Bees, whose task it is to give ventilation to the bee-hive. Mrs. D. E. Nixon reviewed chapters three and four of Frank W. Price's book, China, Twilight or Dawn?, giving a clear picture of conditions in that country during the recent war and the heroic struggles of the civilians to build roads and airfields for use of American forces, while carrying on their native agriculture and industry that made possible resistance to the Japanese. The qualities of the people which have enabled this oldest civilization in the world to persist against great difficulties are well brought out by the author. Discussion of the precarious situation of the Chinese national government today followed the review.

After the program the members gathered around the tea table for a social half hour with Mrs. Grigsby serving at the table and Mrs. Ola Love, hostess chairman, responsible for the refreshments and the dainty appointments appropriate to the Thanksgiving season.

LOYAL MEMBERS' SERVICE

This Sunday will be Loyalty Sunday at All Saints' Episcopal Church, bringing to a conclusion the Every Member Canvas which has been in progress for the past three weeks. Following the 11 o'clock service and sermon by the rector, Reverend Alfred B. Seccombe, there will be a social hour with coffee and refreshments in the adjoining Parish House. The rector urges that all members and their families participate. "The occasion," said Mr. Seccombe, "will permit all parishioners to renew our fellowship and to make our financial pledge to support the program of our growing church."

ATTEND CONVOCATION

Reverend Alfred B. Seccombe, George Zeigler, director of the Church School, and Mrs. James P. McNeill, director of the Young People's Fellowship, took a group from All Saints' Church to attend the young people's meeting of the Monterey County Convocation of the Episcopal Church held last Sunday. The meeting was in St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Salinas, with the Reverend Gordon Reese conducting the Retreat. Supper and a recreational program followed the service.

Those attending from Carmel were: Misses Nancy Brown, Carol Templeman, Nancy Bacon, Deborah Kerr, Susan McCloud, and Legare McNeill, Ed Goodrick, Jack Galloway and Keith McKenzie.

IT'S MORE OFFICIAL YET

The California Centennial Commission, meeting in Stockton Tuesday, drew up preliminary plans for an eight day program at Monterey to celebrate California's first Constitutional Convention, starting August 29, 1949. Plans were also discussed for a three day celebration at Columbia Historical State Park on July 15, 16, and 17, commemorating the gold rush days of '49.

Caught You Out That Time

All week long we have been waiting for either Colonel William E. Pulliam or Dr. Edward O. Sisson, Carmel's most enthusiastic Lincoln scholars and admirers, to remind us that November 19, today, is the anniversary of the Gettysburg Address, as one or the other, or both, have never failed to do in the past.

We are not going to quote the magnificent message here. Lean back in your chair, close your eyes and recall it. Everybody has learned it at some time in his life.

Here are the closing lines, the most stirring and meaningful:

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us — that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Amyx's Show Demonstrates That It Often Takes A Complication Of Knowledge To Be Simple In Art

By Mary Madeleine Riddle

The answer is really very simple: daubs of color on lots of white space with little drawing can be either a lazy amateur's attempt at impressionism, or truly fine painting, creating rich visual and emotional experience through adroit suggestion. It all depends on the painter. The current one-man exhibition of water colors by Leon Amyx at the Carmel Art Association Gallery shows in every instance of color economy and extravagance of white space a know-how that is indicative of long study and practice. It takes time and emotional development to achieve successful pictures: Amyx has been painting for twenty years.

His water colors do two things: they really represent a scene, so skillfully is form achieved with controlled color, yet they make each scene a personal experience because the freedom of style invites the onlooker to participate in the memory, just as good writing, by suggestion, permits the reader to personalize through adding his own details.

His work will therefore please both the professional artist who will know the why of all that he does, or more often leaves undone, and the average public, judging on emotional response, without much knowing or caring why. He's good!

Most of his watercolors are landscapes done near the artist's home in San Benancio Canyon, near Corral de Tierra. He takes conventional water color scenes of rustic charm, reports them divested of either drabness or sentimentality—as in Studebaker's Barn, and The Old Barn Door, and presents them with such a fresh eye and freedom of space through his use of much white space, that it is like walking out into the country on vacation after a long time in the city. Kurt's Farm Buildings and two pictures done in Colombia, Buildings and City Hotel, are more sharply defined, without the white space into air effect at the sides; the color is stronger. Browns, mustards and dull greens convey realism, yet neither harshly, nor with self-conscious vividness. One just feels that this is how it was, if one could see with such quiet awareness of beauty in the ordinary.

In Grove of Pines and The Fallen Tree, Amyx makes extraordinarily successful use of almost no color on the tree trunks, with daubs of green suggesting foliage, so that there is a quality of light reflected from bark. Like the very effective Cow Skulls, these have form for sure, yet the unlimited quality of abstractions. Again, in Country Road, perhaps the outstanding example of his skill, Amyx puts little brown into the road, with just a few dashes of color giving the feeling of foliage on hills of different heights, but the scene is all there.

In Leon Amyx's work one sees a fine example of the old precept that freedom requires restraint and discipline, and that subtle use of color is a very different thing from lack of it, or monotony.

League Regional Conference Nov. 29

Announcement of final plans for the regional conference of the League of Women Voters to be held at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco on November 29 and 30 came this week to Mrs. Francis Ballard, president of the local organization. Mrs. L. Deming Tilton of San Francisco is general chairman for the affair, and Mrs. Nelson Morris of Toledo, Ohio, national board member, will open the conference with an address on The Political and Economic Outlook. Federal taxes and expenditures will be the subject of discussion at most of the sessions.

Chief among the speakers will be Dr. Theodore J. Kreps, professor of economics at Stanford University Graduate School of Business. He will address an evening meeting November 29, open to the public, on the subject, A Balanced Federal Budget: Why Not? A panel discussion on The Forty Billion Dollar Question—the government budget—will be held earlier that day. The purpose of the conference is to stimulate members of the League of Women Voters to consider what the government budget means to the citizen.

Mrs. Ballard and other board members of the Monterey Peninsula League expect to attend.

BETSY JARVIS BROADCAST

Betsy Jarvis, who opened a restaurant on Lincoln street this spring, was the "Personality" subject of a national broadcast last week when Trader Vic, now in New York, gave high praise of her culinary artistry.

Betsy is resting now after an arduous season. She plans to spend Thanksgiving with friends in Oakland, Christmas in Arlington, Washington, with her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. O. G. Kesling, and will re-open her hospitable doors about February 1.

HARTNELL RATED NINTH NATIONALLY

Paul B. Williamson, who predicts and rates the leading university and junior college football teams throughout the country, has placed Hartnell College, Salinas, in ninth place throughout the nation, according to his November 14 report.

Powerhouse on the Pacific Coast is Compton College which is in third place. City College of San Francisco is in sixth place, and Chaffey College is in twelfth place.

Hartnell College has two games left on this year's schedule. November 19, Hartnell plays the Menlo Oaks in Menlo. On Thanksgiving Day, the final game of the season will be played in Salinas against the Monterey Lobos.

Newcomers To Carmel

"We came to visit last spring and decided that the contrast with the midwest was too terrible," said Mrs. William Walker, "so here we are to stay." Mr. and Mrs. Walker with their small daughter, Joy, and son, Kent, arrived, with the furniture, from Keokuk, Iowa, early this week. Mr. Walker is now owner of the Carmel Paint Shop on Junipero street.

Enthusiasm Runs High For Elderly People's Home Plan

work. I don't think there will be any financial problem—I've never seen any worthwhile project in Carmel that wasn't successful.

"We feel that the most practical plan would call for a central building with recreational and dining facilities, with perhaps separate cottages for those who wished them. Thus the group members would maintain complete independence, while enjoying the benefits of a community spirit," Mrs. Trevvett added.

The proposed center would solve the problems of three groups, it was pointed out Tuesday: those who live alone on small pensions, unable to cope with the high cost of living; those who are in need of care, such as cooking and housekeeping, which they cannot afford; and those with adequate financial provisions who are without companionship. Tentative plans now under consideration would call for the acquisition of a building site by the Foundation, where those interested might build their own small cottages, to be willed to the group for future use by other members.

Stating that the only objection encountered to date is the general dislike for the phrase "old people's home," Foundation members pointed out that the center will not be exclusively for old people (no age limits have been prescribed), nor will it be a home in that sense of the word. Complete independence and a maximum of privacy are to be guaranteed, it was emphasized.

Temporary officers appointed Tuesday afternoon are Mrs. Charles Fuller, acting secretary; Hope Hasty, acting treasurer; and Mayor Godwin, acting chairman. Permanent officers are to be elected at a future meeting, date for which has not been set. Also appointed were nominating, policy, and building site committees, with survey and finance committees to be chosen later.

Local residents actively interested in the Carmel Foundation are Dr. Remsen Bird, Miss Jane Burritt, Miss Elizabeth Fogel, Rev. Alfred B. Seccombe, Mrs. R. R. Wallace, Mrs. John Dickinson, Miss L. Lucille Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Trevvett, Harold Mack, Mrs. P. H. Hudgins, and Corum Jackson.

PLANNING COMMISSION

Remodeling of the Pine Inn Cabana room to conform with state fire regulations was authorized by the Planning Commission Tuesday afternoon. Canvas roofing now in use over the lounge adjoining the bar will be replaced with fireproof materials, under terms of a permit issued to the hotel.

Although the commission's report on traffic regulation in the downtown area was prematurely released to the city council two weeks ago through an error, there will be no substantial changes in final recommendations, Chairman P. A. McCreery declared.

Redistricting Meeting Set For Monday

School redistricting committee reports are shaping up and the work should be completed by the first of the year, Peter Ferrante, co-ordinator, told The Pine Cone yesterday.

There is to be a meeting of the committees with the school superintendents in Glen T. Goodwill's office in Monterey Monday when the tax problem and equality of opportunity phases of the project will be discussed. Tax studies were based on four hypothetical plans of possible redistribution.

Ferrante is high in his praise of the committee work in digging up the facts and figures. Monday's meeting is not open to the public, since the redistricting committee work is still in the fact finding stage.

Fashion Show A Success "Beyond All Our Dreams"

Mrs. Mark T. Raggett announces that the Fashion Fanfare, held at La Playa Hotel last Saturday was a success "beyond all our dreams!" "We cannot as yet give exact figures," said Mrs. Raggett, "because all the ticket receipts have not yet been compiled, but to date we have $303! I feel that Mrs. Sowell's committee did a magnificent job."

The Fashion Show committee, headed by Mrs. B. Franklin Sowell, included Mrs. Carol McKenney in charge of models; Mrs. Robert Brown, shops; Mrs. Gabrielle Burnette, tickets; Mrs. Gordon Parker, public relations; Mrs. George C. Bestor, programs; Mrs. Walter Pilot, flowers and hair styling; Mrs. Hampton Stewart, music, and Mrs. Burton Doolittle, posters. Special assistants were Mrs. Eugene Scheffer and Mrs. E. R. Eliot.

Election For Annexation Under Consideration

General E. G. Chapman and Captain Archer M. Allen, representing property owners of Carmel Unincorporated will meet with Attorney Shelburn Robison today to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of holding an election as a means of annexation to the Carmel Sanitary District rather than by petitioning.

Petitions were prepared and ready to circulate when an objection was raised to the $7.00 per lot fee for legal costs and incidentals. An election would involve posting a bond of $150 by the property owners in the petitioning district which would be forfeited in case the proposition was defeated. The election would be held in two precincts, one inside the district, the other in the area of the petitioners, and the proposition would have to gain a majority in both precints. There is a possibility that the voters already within the Sanitary District would defeat the proposition, since the gain of annexation is largely on the side of the unannexed district.

DRIVER JAILED

Earl Wendlandt, Sunset Cleaners route driver, was lodged in the Monterey jail in lieu of $1,000 bail Wednesday night, on car theft charges filed by Allen B. Colvin, company route manager, after Wendlandt and the firm's station wagon failed to appear for work Wednesday.

According to Carmel police, Wendlandt appeared at the station at 10:30 Wednesday night to give himself up after hearing police broadcasts describing him and the automobile as missing. The defendant, who declared the 1946 Ford had been parked near the Del Monte Naval School since Tuesday evening, was being questioned by Chief Roy Fraties as The Pine Cone went to press Thursday. Date for the preliminary hearing had not been set.

Wendlandt had been employed by the company for the past month. Although allowed to have the vehicle in his possession at night, he was not authorized to use it after working hours, Colvin said.

Girl Scout News

In celebration of their troop birthday, the Girl Scouts of Troop 38 had a pot-luck supper at the Girl Scout House Thursday ,at 6 p. m., complete with birthday cake and candles. Mothers were invited to come with their daughters, and Mrs. Victor Drilea, executive director for the Monterey Peninsula Council, was a special guest. Girls working on cook's badge prepared casserole dishes, and the others brought salads, hot breads, relishes and beverages.

Pat Finley was head of the food committee, with Karen von Meier as hostess chairman. Sandra Crabb was in charge of the entertainment committee and Christine Conley the decoration committee. The evening's program featured an investiture ceremony honoring Margaret Neitle.

GRAY LADY GRADUATION

Graduation ceremonies for the recent Gray Lady training class at the Fort Ord Station Hospital will be held on Sunday, November 21, at 3:00 p. m. in the Red Cross recreation building. Immediately following the exercises tea will be served. Anyone from Carmel interested in attending is cordially invited.

Those from Carmel who are being capped include Mesdames Thelma E. Witherell, Nancy Aucourt, Constance Lucile Martin, Elizabeth W. Davis, Constance M. McDonough, and Hazel L. Lahodney.

LIONS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Carmel Lions Club birthday dance and party at the Mission Ranch will be held December 4 as originally scheduled, committee members announced this week. All proceeds from the affair, an after-dinner dance with entertainment and prizes, will go to the Lions Club Swimming Pool Heating Fund. The fund is to provide radiant heating installations in the concrete decks of the new high school aquatic center.

Lions in charge of the event are Frank Andrews, Dewitt Appleton, Ernest Bixler, Jim Burgess, Fred Bloomer, Mike Balazs, Tom Branson, Oscar Balzer, Sam Coleman, Cliff Cook, Lyle Cooper, and Bill Coughlin. Tickets for the party may be obtained from any Carmel Lion at $2.50 per person, including tax.

Also presented by the Lions Club as part of the same fund-raising campaign is the Monterey County Symphony concert at Sunset School Tuesday night, with soloist Normal Wiley. Next week's regular meeting will be held on Monday, in deference to the concert.

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Marcia DeVoe's Kindergarten

My pen doesn't work very well, so I took it to pieces and fixed it, but it still doesn't work.

—Tony Mastin

I'm going to buy myself a big fire engine when I grow up.

—Michael Blaney

On the way to school I saw too baby calves, one standing and one running.—Paul Rice.

My daddy drives the fire engine and he lets me ride on it.

—David Roberts

At the fair at Monterey I saw some guns in a truck. At the parade I saw a coast guard boat.

—David Wiley

My daddy is the referee at the football games. He blows the whistle.—Joy Fehring.

I have a snail and when I get a chance I'll bring it to school.

—Barbara Riddle

My daddy took me to the ball game and we sat in the stands. We watched the ball game, too.

—Austin Fergusson

Momme made a pom-pom yesterday and we went to the football game.—Jane Tetley.

We are going to the ball game next time. It is going to be a donkey game.—Carolyn McKinzie.

We're going to the airport to take an airplane ride to Point Lobos. My daddy will fly the plane. The whole family is going.

—Diane Shields.

Mr. Jim Blee's Sixth Grade

MY PETS

I have two pets, a dog and a bird. They don't get along with each other. My collie dog, Tippy, likes to chase birds whether he is in the house or not. If we let our bird out of the cage Tip tries to chase him.

The bird's full name is Timothy Tumoches Ticklebreeches the Third. He is a yellow canary with a black crown. Timmy is curious and he doesn't like to stay in his cage.

Tippy is very playful. He loves to play with a towel. He thinks the best thing to do is to go to the beach. He wants to go all the time. Tippy is very lonely because nobody is home all day. I like both of my pets very much.

—Karen Johnson

AFTER SCHOOL SPORTS

After school sports have been started at Sunset. The first game was played September 30. We play touch football. It's about the same as tackle except, instead of tackling the person with the ball, you tag him with both hands.

The captains for the two teams were Don Leidig and Denny Johnson. On October 3 new teams were chosen. The new captains are Don Leidig and Richard Whitesides. Richard's team has won 1, lost 3 and tied 3. Don's team has won 3, lost 1, and tied 3. Only one game has been forfeited.—Paul Fratessa

SOUTH AMERICA

In social studies this year, we are studying about South America. It is a very interesting topic and our class has a lot of books on it.

Each person in our class has a topic and is making a frieze or map about it. Some are making both. Some of the topics are: rubber, coffee, products, animals, birds, rivers, flags, and transportation.

Some of the topics we have for friezes and maps are: street scenes, coffee, rubber, products, and the history of South America.

We have also been learning a little Spanish. So far, we know about 38 words and sentences. It is a lot of fun to learn.

After we get through studying South America, we are going to study aviation.—Patricia Doolittle

JUNIOR AUDUBON CLUB

Sunset School has organized a Junior Audubon Club. All over America, members of the National Audubon Society are working to preserve and protect our wildlife.

Mr. Blee is the sponsor of our club. Miss Morrow and Mr. Ballou have been taking us on our field trips. We have them every two weeks. So far we've gone on three field trips. They were all on Saturday. Miss Morrow took us out on the first one. We went down to the mouth of the river. We saw about twenty different birds. Mr. Ballou took us up to Jack's Peak on our second trip. On our third hike we went down to Point Lobos.

Our club has a meeting every Tuesday noon for forty minutes. Our officers are: President, Alice Ferrante; vice-president, Pat Finley; secretary, Phyllis Burnette, and treasurer, Howard Roloff. We have 17 members. They are: Cynthia Blum, Phyllis Burnette, Priscilla Clark, Alice Ferrante, Pat Finley, Paul Fratessa, Gretchen Herron, Sandra Kohner, Sarah McCloud, Lynn McMath, Tommy Petty, Howard Roloff, Melinda Scheffer, Donn Sipes, Sally Spurr, Judy Wallace and Julie Work. Our club is lots of fun.

—Priscilla Clark

Mr. Blee teaches the fifth and sixth grades for P. E. We have our P. E. at 2:30.

At first when Mr. Blee comes out, he gets all of the absences from both rooms. Then after that we take a lap around the field. Then we start playing football. Mr. Blee watches offsides and the line of scrimmage.

The captains art Pat Grimshaw and Don Sipes. Pat's team is leading 7 games to 5 games. Five times the teams have not scored. Don has a pretty good team, but the whole trouble with his team is that they make too much noise in the huddle and nobody gets anything that the captain is saying. But on Pat's team you can hear everything because nobody else is talking. But just the same Don's team is pretty good.

When P. E. is over we get a drink of water and go in the room and go to work on something else.

—Jimmy Hallett.

BAY SCHOOL'S ANNUAL HALLOWE'EN PARTY

By Richard Williams

On Friday, October 29, the Bay School students held their annual Hallowe'en party. All the students were present. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hal Boyd, Mrs. Edmund Dempsey, Mrs. Russell Williams, Bee and Honey Williams and Mrs. Abbie Powers.

At 7:30 p. m. the party began with a grand march. All the students came in costume. The costume prizes were awarded to Richard Dempsey with a scarecrow costume and Jackie Tibbetts with a Gypsy costume.

Mrs. Areheart then handed out the bubble gum to chew while we played bingo which was next on the list. The only other people besides the students to play bingo were Bee and Honey Williams.

After we played three games of bingo we had the bubble blowing contest. Charlotte Boyd won. Then the refreshments were served. We had ice cream, cup cakes, candy and witches brew.

The rest of the evening we played musical chairs, pass the ghost, pin the nose on the pumpkin, blind's man bluff, and imitations.

The party broke up at 10:30 but some of the students stayed to help take down the decorations. The decorations were all made by the students. They were black cats, pumpkins, skeletons, spiders, bats, and ghosts. The total expense for the party was $4.95. It was paid out of the student treasury.

The Time Has Come . .

By Kippy Stuart

If more home-makers were only willing to grow up with their gardens, they would have more fun and save, oh my, so many dollars. Shrubs are expensive, yet shrubs are easy to grow from cuttings. My garden boasts tall hedges that were once tiny cuttings. The life in a bit of wood, cut from the parent shrub, never ceases to amaze me. Some years ago, when I started my garden, I was plenty ignorant. If one has enough of anything, even ignorance, plus perseverance, things can happen. I raided gardens all over Carmel; some with permission, other by way of "sticking through the fence" method. I plastered the ground with these cuttings, an inch apart. I didn't know what to expect, but I soon found out.

An amazing number of cuttings took root. I should say, three out of every five. I didn't have sense enough to do anything but water the cuttings. Just imagine what might have happened if I had planted them in river-run sand, as per the experts! I would have been inundated with shrubs. Today I glance up at my hedges, fifteen, twenty feet tall, and I remind them not to get too cocky, because I "knew them when."

A good rule for selecting plants for wind-breaks is to plant shrubs with shiny leaves. Of this ilk, the Coprosma (commonly called the Looking Glass or Mirror plant) and the escallonia are the hardiest. Neither have any enemies that I know of, and once they get a good start they fend for themselves. I have hedges of both these plants that are so thick and so massed together that nothing can penetrate. They are better than any fence ever made. Another satisfactory hedge is the Salt Bush. If you want to go highbrow, let's call it Genus Atriplex. The Salt Bush, with its soft gray foliage, is a push-over to grow. Last June I was helping in a friend's garden. Money was scarce and there were hundreds and hundreds of feet requiring hedges. We raided my Salt Bush plants, which needed trimming at that time, and secured bushels of cuttings. We made deep holes to hold water, and stuck in five cuttings to each hole. It was a chore to keep the place watered through the summer, but we are well repaid. In four months the Salt Bush rose to three and four feet tall, spreading its feathery branches all over the place.

Pruning, that is looked upon as a chore, is really an art. Don't wait until your hedge is tall and leggy, requiring deep pruning. This leaves raw stub branches sticking up that are offensive. "Feathering" is more satisfactory, and takes only a few moments at a time. Watch your young plants carefully. When one sends up a tender shoot above its fellows, clip off this shoot. Maintain an even surface of the hedge at all times.

Eugenia Myrtifolia is the aristocrat of hedges. I wouldn't advise trying to grow this variety from cuttings, although it can be done. The Eugenia comes from Australia and is called Australian Bush Cherry, and is lovely to look upon. The red-tinted young growth gives color to the garden and later, the leaves turn a shiny green. Go on out now and select your hedge. Cuttings placed in the ground at this time of year will be taken care of by the rain.

SHOWING MEXICO IN COLOR

Wings to Mexico and Guatemala, a motion picture in color and George Herzenberg's beautiful color slides of the Monterey Bay and Peninsula will be the feature films shown to the Color Photography Appreciation Class in Sunset Auditorium next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, as announced by Leota Tucker of the Adult Education division. The public is cordially invited.

Oscar Wilde's Great Play Opens At First Theatre Tonight

Theatrical event of the week is Lady Windermere's Fan, comedy-melodrama by Oscar Wilde directed by Lee Crowe, which opens at the First Theater, Monterey, tonight, with the curtain at 8:15. Much excitement and eager interest are being shown in this departure from the First Theater pattern of American Westerns and melodramas, as well as in Lee Crowe's direction of a First Theater show.

Costumes are by Rhoda Johnson, settings by Bill Kappy. Lucy Valpey will be at the piano, Richard Johnson is stage technician, Kay Knudsen is in charge of lighting, and Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous are the producers.

Lee Crowe has played on Broadway and "on the road." His professional experience is distinguished. He is best known for his transcontinental tour in the leading role of Pursuit of Happiness. He has played on the New York stage with Claudette Colbert and Rollo Peters, and been starred in pictures. In Carmel he has directed for Edward Kuster at the Golden Bough Playhouse, directing Dream Girl, and Mrs. Moonlight. For the Adult School, Night of January 16.

Lady Windermere's Fan will play tonight and tomorrow night, and again on Friday and Saturday nights next week, and on Saturday nights only, thereafter. A full review of the production will be carried in these columns next week.

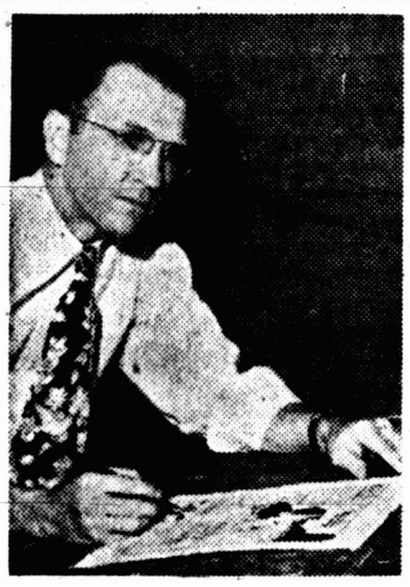
From Melting Snows To Autumn Aspen Leaves, Animals Adjust To The Seasons In Colored Movie

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will present the second lecture of this season's Screen Tours on Saturday evening November 27 at Sunset School Auditorium, Carmel, at 8 o'clock. To those fortunate enough to have heard and seen the first presentation last month, no appeal is necessary to emphasize the beauty of the colored motion pictures or the fascinating interest of the subject matter. The second lecture promises to be no less interesting.



The lecturer will be William Ferguson, eminent writer, scientist, educator and artist. His motion pictures and comment take you on a fascinating adventurous journey into "This Curious World In Nature." Beginning with heavy snows that fall in the Colorado Rockies during May, the film reveals the unfolding life that takes place as winter retreats swiftly under a brilliant sun. Many of the mysteries behind nature's processes are mysteries no longer when William Ferguson delves into the ways in which nature works. Many of the "hows and whys" which have troubled boys and girls as well as grownups who have been interested in the great out-of-doors are explained away, as the program proceeds.

Deer drop their antlers, and shed their ragged winter coats. Fawns are born, wearing their own very special kind of raiment. Spring secrets of nest building and bird family life are revealed. The intricate interdependence of flowers and insects is clarified.

And the story behind the magic of autumn's brilliance is told—as you watch on the screen flaming yellow-reds of aspens against a blue September sky.

In pointed contrast Mr. Ferguson demonstrates the vandalism, both willful and uintentional, of man: initials carved on tree trunks by Kilroys of yesteryears; other trees bearing the scars of elk teeth, the result of over-pasturing when man upsets the balance of nature by killing off predators; and the ravages caused by forest fires, product of carelessness.

Mr. Ferguson's full length color film is particularly rich in animal lore. Besides the mammals already mentioned there are studies of marmots, beaver, porcupines, elk and chipmunks. The final sequence in which chipmunks demonstrate remarkable powers is one you will much enjoy and long remember.

The speaker, William Ferguson, spent the first 18 years of his life on a Kansas farm. It was during those years that he found and developed his interest in the observation of nature's ways. After a short time spent in art schools he became a cartoonist for farm newspapers in the middle west. But the urge to draw pictures of birds and mammals, combined with a penchant for seeking out and learning interesting items in the world of nature, impelled him to create a syndicated newspaper feature called Mother Nature's Curio Shop. Later the title was changed to This Curious World, the name under which this feature today is sent out to hundreds of newspapers throughout the United States and Canada by NEA Service.

Mr. Ferguson lives in Omaha during the winter months, but with the coming of spring he strikes out for Colorado, where he and his family make their home in a studio 8,500 feet above sea level, in the magnificent area bordering on Rocky Mountain National Park. Here, as a close neighbor of the creatures of the foothills and those of the snow-capped peaks, he has extended his keen observational technique and his artist's perception to the motion picture camera — to produce glowing color films which, like his other works, are at the same time educational and interesting; informative, yet enjoyable.

Season tickets are still available for the remaining four lectures for $2.40, or tickets for this one occasion will be on sale at the box office for 60 cents.

The local society will give a dinner for Mr. Ferguson on the night of the lecture at La Ribera Hotel at 6 o'clock. Members desiring to attend should notify Dr. Angwin, president, at Monterey 2-0070, or Mrs. Terhune, secretary, at Carmel 1308-J.

Miss Louise Cabral, superintendent of the Monterey Hospital, has returned from Long Beach where she attended the Nurses and Hospital convention, November 1-4.

RED + NEWS

The story of the Red Cross continues . . . even as its work goes on and on. Although the office is at Dolores and Eighth, and much is done there, the Red Cross workers serve everywhere. There are many separate departments, each functioning smoothly under the able leadership of a chairman or committee, working with the main body—the board of directors—to make a set-up which gets things done efficiently and democratically.

Many of the active working units comprise the Volunteer Services. The chairman of these and all Red Cross services are appointed and great care is taken to select those best fitted for the responsibility. Again we point out that all the chairmen, as well as their workers, are never paid, except by the great personal satisfaction they receive from being of service to others.

The Volunteer Service groups at present active in the Carmel chapter are: the Gray Ladies under Mrs. Isabelle Terhune; the production room under Mrs. John W. Dickinson; nurses aides and staff assistants for the blood program under Mrs. Kent Parrot and Mrs. Paul H. Low; staff assistants for general chapter work, temporarily under Mrs. Robinson Jeffers, chapter chairman; entertainment and instruction service under Mrs. Rush R. Wallace. A group of recreation workers for Fort Ord is also being organized; for there is much for the Red Cross to do at Fort Ord, which has grown tremendously as one of the chief training centers for our large peace-time army.

In coming issues we shall brief each of these important links in the Red Cross chain of mercy and help, and one by one will tell you of the many vital tasks they do. You have recently heard much of the newest branch, that of the national blood program, which in Carmel is directed by Paul Whitman. There is also the oldest activity of the Red Cross in Carmel, the social service work, called home service, under the able leadership of Mrs. Ernest F. Morehouse.

The Junior Red Cross has an extensive program of its own; and with Mrs. Edwin C. Tucker in charge, it is operating not only in the Carmel schools but reaches the rural schools along the coast beyond Lucia and out the Valley to Jamesburg. First aid, accident prevention, and water safety instruction continues under the chairmanship of Joseph D. Hudder; the ambulance service under Fred C. Mylar, and nurse enrollment under Miss Elizabeth Kynaston. The disaster relief and preparedness service, with Alfred G. Fry as chairman, is highly organized into many committees. Some of the work done by them during the war will be covered later; and you will find it most reassuring to know that these powerful branches are constantly "alerted."

Balinese Dancers Give Fine Performance

The dancing of Devi Dja and her Javanese troupe at the Sunset School Auditorium on Tuesday night was a delight to the life and a refreshment to the spirit. The achievement of pure form in motion and rhythm was something rare and impressive. Each movement created a new picture, faultless in line and inbred always with an inherent knowledge of timeless art. The familiar sculptures and frescoes of Asiatic art came to life and moved before our eyes with all the awe and dignity of that mysterious "action in inaction" often achieved by those of Eastern culture. Whenever they moved there was a certain stillness about them. Not only was there perfect control of gesture and posture but also control of thought and emotion as portrayed in these. Here was evidence of training that went far below the surface design into the depths of being.

The most beautiful aspect of this dancing was the liveness and exquisite play of the hands. These flower-like extremities of the rhythmic form seemed almost to dance of themselves. Each gesture was significant, carrying meaning and often sacred connotation beyond our comprehension. The lovely lithe fingers had their own language and poetry. They moved always with the rhythm of the body, carrying its flame-like emotion out to the very end and passing it imperceptibly in to space. Perhaps there is no dancing in the world today as delicately beautiful as the Balinese dance of the hands. They seem to have transcended their physical limitations and to have become pure motion.

One of the most impressive dances on the program was the Temptation ballet at the Shrine of Buddha. Here the first dancer, Devi Dja, is seated in the Buddha posture, as motionless as marble, majestic and inscrutable. The daughters of Mara dance before the shrine, attempting to lure the Buddha from his meditations. Eventually the still figure begins to move, carrying its stillness and silence unbroken, dancing a slow cosmic dance and finally returning to its former pose of motionlessness and peace.

The costumes for the dances were complete in design and color, carrying the remarkable sense of form throughout. The music was almost pure rhythm, supplied by the tap drums, the gong and the bells. The drummer should also be mentioned, for he managed the difficult rhythms and cross-rhythms with amazing skill. In one number, where the dancers sang a charming folk-song, he stood in the background with a small tap drum, playing with one finger, just a tap here and there, but maintaining a fine and delicate figure of musical accompaniment.

Alysia and Sudaka, who assisted Devi Dja on this tour were also accomplished dancers. The devil dance of Sudaka was memorable for its spirited, angular design. The temple dance of Alysia was very charmingly presented, full of reverence and grace. Altogether the whole program was a most enchanting performance, rare to us in the West, and creating deep admiration for the ancient art of another civilization whose aspirations are totally different from ours.—D. H.

Francis Clark

Col. Francis William Clark (USA ret), former commanding officer of the Monterey Presidio who had made his home here since his retirement nine years ago, died at his Dolores and Thirteenth residence Friday, following a heart attack.

Born November 20, 1877, in Wichita, Kansas, Col. Clark was graduated with highest honors from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1901. During World War I he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for his services as chief of the Third Corps Artillery, and as a staff member under General Pershing.

From 1932-35 he commanded the Tenth Field Artillery, stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington, and from 1935-39 was Chief of Staff of the Third Division there. Col Clark retired from active duty in 1939, when he came with his family to Carmel.

With the outbreak of the recent war he was called to active duty as commanding officer of the Presidio of Monterey. Here he served from January, 1941, until May, 1943, when he was retired because of physical disability.

Col. Clark leaves his wife, Mrs. Louise E. Clark, and a daughter, Miss Louise Clark, both of Carmel; a brother, Dr. Samuel Nye Clark, and a sister, Mrs. Sally Floyd, both of the eastern states.

Private services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Little Chapel by the Sea Crematorium, Pacific Grove, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mary Anderson

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Anderson, 83, Carmel Point resident for the past 16 years, died Saturday at a Peninsula hospital. She was a native of Brooklyn, New York.

Mrs. Anderson leaves her husband, Major Cooper Anderson (USA ret), and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Anderson Jacobs, both of Carmel; and a sister, Mrs. J. B. Eddington of Chicago.

Services were held Monday afternoon at the Paul Mortuary, Pacific Grove, with inurnment at the Little Chapel by the Sea Crematorium.

Rosemary Dickinson, writing in tribute to her says:

A little of the light of Carmel has gone with the passing of Mary Anderson, and a wide circle of her friends will remember with deep affection her many endearing qualities. She was a gracious little lady, full of gaiety and charm, passionately loyal to her friends. Until recent years, she was a devoted worker in the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church, and one of her outstanding qualities was that she was the first to notice strangers in the church and to give them a warm welcome. Uncomplaining and serene through years of intense suffering, she was a living example of fortitude and consideration for others. For her, as in the words of Tagore:

"Death is not extinguishing the night,
It is putting out the lamp, because
Dawn has come."

PADRES DEFEAT PG 39 TO 0 IN ARMISTICE DAY CLASH

The coveted Football Shoe, symbol of grid superiority between Pacific Grove and Carmel, will be at home in the Carmel trophy case for the next year. Playing one of their best games of the year, the Red and Gray football machine ground out six touchdowns and made good on three conversions to thoroughly spank the scrappy Pacific Grove eleven. Played before a record Armistice Day throng, the trend of the battle was pretty well settled in the first half when the Padres ran and passed for three scores. Walt Frey scooted 27 yards for the initial marker in the first period, while Jim Hare, Legare McNeill, Dick Weer, and Tom Handley contributed following touchdowns. Pacific Grove showed flashes of offensive power, but were unable to put together a sustained drive which could carry for the big six. Top Breaker offensive threats were Max Kelly, Don Weber, and "Mighty Mite" Brown, who clicked for substantial gains on the ground and in the air. The passing of Spratt and Fugitt caused the Red and Gray defenders some uneasy moments during the afternoon.

Anchored by their All-League center, Art Harber, the Carmel line turned back all threats through the middle and allowed the Breakers a minus six yards net gain inside the tackles. Pierre Boutet, Tom Corley, and Dick Taplin were the bulwarks in the Padre inner defense.

The Carmel American Legion Color Guard, led by Commander Gordon Campbell, presided at pregame Armistice Day ceremonies while the Pacific Grove band entertained between games and at the half of the varsity tilt.

Following the game, Student Body Prexy, Joe Sieve, presented Carmel game captain, Jim Hare, the newly inaugurated "Shoe" trophy which was donated by J. O. Handley. The Padres will be entitled to keep the trophy for the next year, but the Breakers will have an opportunity to win it next Armistice Day.

DAWSON'S BABES RUN WILD TO SMOTHER PG JV'S, 33-0

Setting a fine example for the varsity, the little Padres broke out in a rash of touchdowns in the Armistice Day preliminary game with the Breaker JV's, and when hostilities ceased, Dawson's midgets had hit a new offensive high for the season. Syl Burger, a hard running fullback, started the touchdown parade by bolting through the middle for 46 yards to pay dirt. Al Greene, a sensational runner in this game, skirted end for the second tally and set up the third score by a 40 yard gallop. Al was severly jarred on this play and had to retire for the rest of the game. Power thrusts by Jim Moran and Henry Overin contributed the fourth and fifth scores. All the lightweights played very creditable ball, and served notice that they will be hard to keep off the varsity next year.

Playing for the Carmel Babes were: Ends: Joe Diekemper, Neils Reimers, Ken Kiley. Tackles: Gunnar Reimers, Thor Rasmussen, Gary Shaw, Charles May, Ted Nash, Mickey Frisbie. Guards: Bill Daniels, Howard Veit, Delfo Giglio, Chris Williams. Centers: Jim Harget, John Monroe, Joe Beard. Quarterbacks: Stewart Emery, Bob Updike. Halfbacks: Ronald Stoney, Kurt von Meier, Jim Thompson, Keith McKenzie, Henry Overin, Ron Peterson, Jim Moran. Fullback: Al Greene and Syl Burger.

CARMEL CLOSES GRID PLAY WITH 34-12 VICTORY

Carmel's fast-improving varsity journeyed to Cambria last Saturday afternoon and wound up the 1948 season with a well-earned victory over a fine Cambria team. Cambria had but one loss out of seven games until meeting the Padres and they went to work in a hurry to prove they could lick the locals. Carmel's second offensive play backfired and the Bronco left halfback picked up the errant pass to scamper 65 yards for a Cambria score. Not satisfied with dishing out this lesson, the Broncos broke their speedy fullback over left tackle for 62 yards and another score before the Padres could get the feel of the lush Cambria turf. Captain Art Harber took time out to determine necessary tactics for a two touchdown deficit and soon the Red and Gray put on their own offensive fireworks. It was Tom Handley for 49 yards and a score. Jack Belangee for 15 yards and a score. Jim Hare passed to Dick Weer for 24 yards and a score. At the half, the locals were ton top, 20 to 12. Carmel picked up two more TDs in the second half and set a solid defense for the tricky Cambria backs to hold them scoreless.

Lightweight graduates Bob Updike, Henry Overin, Keith McKenzie, and Neils Reimers saw considerable action for the Padres and deported themselves in creditable fashion.

DADS AND SONS IN FEED AT CARMEL H. S. CAFETERIA

Gathering to celebrate a football season of hard work, fun, victories, and a few losses, members of the 1948 football squads and their fathers joined with a galaxy of guests to enjoy a sumptuous dinner prepared by Mrs. Jacqueline Crosby and her cafeteria staff last Tuesday evening.

Art Harber, Block C president, welcomed fathers and guests on behalf of the Letterman's Club and each boy introduced his dad to the group. Dr. Chester Hare, quarterback Jim's dad, spoke for the fathers and stressed the important role that each boy plays in the success of a football team. Dr. Hare pointed out that the hard-working linemen and blockers are often overlooked in our enthusiasm for ball carriers and pass receivers.

A. B. Ingham, insurance secretary of the CIF, outlined the work of his department in helping to pay for football injuries and efforts being made to prevent injuries. Junior college coaches, Bob Robinett, Hartnell (Salinas JC), and Dan Dillon, Monterey Peninsula College, regaled the gathering with football anecdotes and welcomed Carmel boys at their schools of higher learning. Peter Ferrante, Carmel School Board, caused many pleasant grins when he announced that the high school swimming pool will be ready for use early in 1949. Pete's enthusiasm for Stanford also caused some grins from California's alumni present.

Ed Cochrane Again Chairman Of Armed Services Y. M. C. A.

Edward W. Cochrane of Carmel, has been elected for the third consecutive year as chairman of the operating committee of the Armed Services YMCA which will return to USO operation after January 1. Secretary of Defense James Forrestal has asked that the USO, which ceased operation last January, be reactivated on that date. Other officers chosen are Glenn Goodwill, superintendent of schools of Monterey, vice-chairman; Mrs. Wilma Campbell of Monterey, secretary; and G. H. Burnette of Carmel, treasurer. The board will remain as it has been for the past year, with the addition of Clarence Lucas of Pacific Grove as a member.

The AWVS has accepted an invitation to give the Thanksgiving day buffet supper at both the El Estero and Pearl street units and members of the organization will serve.

A committee consisting of women members of the operating committee of the YMCA units, with additional members to be chosen by this committee, will increase the number of junior and senior hostesses who will serve during the coming year on dance nights.

Have You Read . . . ?

By John Upton

50 Secrets of Magic Craftsmanship, by Salvador Dali; The Dial Press; 192 pp; $7.50.

"Van Gogh was mad, and unconditionally, generously and gratuitously cut off his left ear with the blade of a razor. I am not mad . . . yet I would be perfectly capable of allowing my left hand to be cut off . . . on condition, namely, that I might for ten minutes be able to observe Vermeer of Delft seated before his easel as he was painting."

With this bit of unDalinian humility, surrealist Salvador Dali begins 50 Secrets of Magic Craftsmanship, the third book from the pen of the most controversial figure in contemporary art. His two earlier volumes, The Secret Life of Salvador Dali (1943) and the solidly-written though little-known Hidden Faces (1944), a novel, aptly demonstrated a competence in the field of literature that may make him the most artistically articulate figure of our day. In addition to painting and writing, Dali has designed jewelry, furniture, houses, costumes, scenery, movie sets, and home interiors. In almost every field he has shown a kind of gay capability that has been the chagrin and despair of the conservative artist.

"My intelligence has never ceased to grow in the course of my ambition, which, as every one knows, has always been lofty and majestic since my tenderest childhood," Dali confides. . . . "Each time I observe what is happening to me at the moment of beginning or of completing a work, I am always surprised by the bursting forth of vigorous new shoots."

A lively manual for young painters is 50 Secrets, containing a great deal of sound information on brushes, colors, paints, wash drawing, sketching, and on the use of models, maulsticks, and gnomonic forms. Less informative but more entertaining are the author's observations on sleep with three sea-perch eyes, on choosing a wife, on the painter's pointed mustaches, and on using the skeleton of a sea-urchin to tell when a painting is finished.

"After the realization of your painting, it is necessary to finish it, and sometimes even to patch it up," Dali warns. "And here is the mystery. If six days have been more than sufficient for you to realize your painting, it may sometimes take you several years to finish it, since it has never yet been known exactly when a painting is finished, or even if a single painting exists which is. My own opinion is that no painting is ever finished, and that it is to this that paintings owe the force of their existence, the perpetual influence which they exert over the years."

Keep animals out of your studio, Dali tells the young artist sternly. "These can but involve you in innumerable and unnamable disorders and miseries and filth, from the constant menace of . . . their dirty hairs . . . and by their overwhelmingly depressing propinquity . . . the stupid presence of a dog, with its lachrymose sentimentality, cannot but strike you as lamentably out of harmony with the cruel tension of your lucid spirit."

The large, handsome volume contains many illustrations by the author, some in color, and marginal notes in manuscript. Some of the pen and ink sketches are reminiscent of da Vinci (whom Dali places only slightly below Vermeer on most counts, and rates as his equal in genius), and heretofore have not been readily available.

"Quite part from my intrinsic value as a painter—which I am one of the first to be ready to discuss—one thing is certain: that if 'painting' is to survive our epoch of barbarous mechanical progress, this continuity of painting will have its starting point in Salvador Dali; and it is for this reason that this book is destined to have a daily-growing vital interest," Dali concludes. "For no person, whether directly or remotely interested in the real phenomenon of painting, will be able to avoid consulting it."

TALISMAN FOR SLEEP

A circled silence of sky,
Tide sucking under the sand;
The endless wash of the sea,
Surf, salt on the wind.
Far-away skirling of gulls,
Smell of wet kelp on the shore:
Dark-drooping cypress trees,
Fog-wraith, sealing the door.

Every restless pillow
When this night folds deep,
Has under it the secret
White talisman for sleep.

—Gertrude Fletcher.

DREAM RIVER

If you should come upon me, weeping,
By some dark river of your dreams,
Then take my hand in your hand's keeping,
And kiss my eyes till no tear gleams.

And I will tell you of the sorrows
That beat like rain against my heart
Thru all the unfulfilled tomorrows
That saw each shining hope depart.

And you shall tell me of your love
That was my shield in bitter years—
If you should dream you leaned above
My last despair, and dried my tears.

—Natalie Flohr.

ZINNIAS

Cinnabar from old Peiping,
Henna Egypt knew,
Purple of Byzantium,
Gold of lost Peru,
Pearl of rajahs from Ceylon,
Splash of Baghdad's splendor—
Bought for fifty cents today
From a roadside vendor.

—Marcus Z. Lytle.

LANGUAGE

Words are wilderness of mind,
Woods where jungled meanings twine
Round and round about the truth;
Parasite and blooming vine.
What the most incisive said,
Half remembered of half read,
Was from not quite certain page
Of some faulty sage long dead.
Sage sought and died before
He unlocked the final door.
What the most incisive said
Knocked at that and closed a score;
Rhetoric, but scarcely more.

—J. S. Moodey.

Rifling The Files . . .

From its earliest beginnings, Carmel has been a doggish community. Although accepted by most of the population today as part of the city's tradition, the canine citizen has for more than thirty years been the center of periodic tempests stirred up by annoyed city officials and belligerent visitors, and a minority party who believe dogs are all right in their place, and the downtown streets are not their place.

The following communication appeared in The Carmel Pine Cone of March 18, 1916:

Carmel, Cal., March 5, 1916

"Editor Pine Cone:

"I have been informed that the permanent population of Carmel is about 400 persons. From my observations on your streets I am led to assume that the number of dogs is about the same. One day recently I counted twelve dogs at one time within half a block of the post office.

"I came here to spend a few months in peace and safety, neither of which I have found because of the dog nuisance. My little girl goes for our daily mail in fear and trembling, and the nights are made hideous and sleepless by barking dogs.

"Cannot something be done to remedy this state of affairs? Is there no official body to take action in the matter? I love Carmel, but Oh, the dogs! —A Visitor."

By 1917, the dogs apparently threatened to outnumber the human residents, and legal action was taken. From the April 5, 1917 issue:

"From now until May 4, when the dog licensing ordinance goes into effect, there should be a lively sale of dog collars and chloroform in our fair city, and a consequent increase of revenue both for the municipality and the merchant.

"This ordinance stipulates an annual license of $1.50 for male dogs and $2 for female dogs."

For the next ten years, the situation was pretty well under control. Not until 1927 did the dog problem flare up again, this time in the City Council Chambers. In the issue of February 11, The Pine Cone reports:

"Dogs. Dog licenses, dog leashes, dog muzzles. Police dogs, whose threatening fangs hold women guests tight to their hotel rooms, trembling in dread of rabies. Mongrel dogs, mixing in brutal combat on Carmel's main street, imperiling the shoppers. Large dogs, lying somnolent in the post office rotunda, delaying delivery of the U. S. mails. Dogs that even drink the city water and increase the bills that the taxpayers' money goes to pay.

"Dogs were an important part of the last Council meeting. The Trustees frowned on them and turned thumbs down. The city attorney quoted from the law anent them, and gave legal lore of penalties and judgments. Even the audience broke out with threats of 'bouncing a few rocks off their heads.'

"There seemed not a friend of the dog in all that council chamber. Mayor Jordan's lips drew in a hard, straight line as he demanded licenses for every canine inside the city limits, particularly police dogs. Trustee Woods' eyes grew steely as he insisted that mongrels be either tagged with the city's emblem of sanction, or be dragged to the pound.

"Not a friend in the world had the dog to raise a voice in his favor before these adverse judges, sitting in solemn condemnation. Yet Trustee Foster had not spoken. His face had grown a bit haggard as the discussion went on. Only for this, and a look of sadness and anxiety in his eyes, he took no part in the heated discussion of poundmasters and penalties.

"Came a few minutes' recess in the proceedings. The Trustees stretched themselves, relaxing. Trustee Foster came to the rail and motioned to Marshal and Tax Collector A. Englund. He spoke to him low.

"'Make me a dog license, quick.' He drew a roll of bills from his pocket. 'A mutt—a he-mutt, Gus. Find me a tag for him tonight. He's just no good at all, but he's my dog.'"

Kreutzberg Review

By Betty Horst

About fifteen years ago Ruth Austin and I first saw Harold Kreutzberg and Yvonne George dance in San Francisco. It was their first visit to America and their approach to the then modern dance was a revelation and a most thrilling experience to the dancers and audiences of this country. We also had the opportunity of studying with them at that time and later with Kreutzberg on his return the following season. So it was with quite some sentimentality and nostalgia that we viewed his concert at the Sunset Auditorium on November 12, the opening concert of the Carmel Music Society's season.

The Kreutzberg of today has lost none of his audience charm or vivid personality. His finesse, subtle nuances, beautiful timing and lovely unbroken rhythm patterns are as delightful as ever, but one misses the brilliance of his elevation and leaps so much used in the old days.

In his program of "dances and characters" his old compositions such as Master of Ceremonies, variations on Oh Du Lieber Augustin and Hungarian Dances are still gems of dance composition, but his newer numbers, perhaps because of the fact that they are new, have greater demands on them. We have come to expect far more psychologically penetrating works from the modern dancers of today. Even the younger choreographers in the ballet field are recognizing this fact.

It may be that Kreutzberg, being such an expert pantomimist, is more interested in developing theater pieces of beauty and charm rather than furthering the progress of modern dance. His opening number, Four Little Etudes with music by Czerny, From an Old Calendar, an 18th century vignette to Mozart, and the closing number, Selizer Waltzer, a nostalgic memory of old Vienna, are all perfect examples of that form of art.

Of his more serious numbers, Evocation of the Evil One, Job Expostulateth with God and Night Terror had the most interesting content. His Song of the Stars should be seen in a better spot on the program.

That Kreutzberg's dancing has artistry, beauty, imagination and technique is without question and to be able to find the means of expressing beauty to so many people in such a versatile manner is a tribute of which any artist may be proud.

Friedrich Wilckens, his associate, composer, and accompanist for many years, is not only a brilliant pianist but one of the best composers of music for the modern dance. We are fortunate to have had these two fine artists in Carmel.

An intriguing, almost fascinating by-product of Harold Kreutzberg's dance program was the play of shadows across the backdrop of the stage, especially in the first number. As he moved slowly along the back of the stage, arms outstretched, the fragmentary shadows suddenly fused into a giant bat poising a moment on the gray curtain; a slight turn of the dancer, one arm moving lightly upward, and the figure disappeared, as bats do in the twilight.

It was in no way sinister or menacing, but rather a friendly eerie creature hovering on outstretched wings, that came and went as the man glided lightly through his figures. When with arms thrown wide he reached the spot at which the shadows from the footlights focussed into one, the giant bat came into view, only to melt away at the smallest change of position that scattered the shadows. It could not have been more effective if the dance had been rehearsed with this apparition as its purpose, the evoking of a creature of the twilight upon the gray draperies.

DANTE SCHOLAR, SPEAKER

Professor Umberto Olivieri of the faculty of Santa Clara College, Santa Clara, will drive to Carmel next Tuesday, November 23, in order to address Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's current literature group at 7:30 p. m., in room 11 of Sunset School. Professor Olivieri, the famous Dante scholar, recently returned from an extended trip through western Europe. He will speak on the life of Saint Francis of Assisi as depicted in Dante's Paradiso.

Visitors are welcome to attend as the guests of the Carmel Adult School.

Henry Meade Williams Will Preside At Adult Writing Class Monday

Next Monday evening, at the weekly discussion of the Writers' Club of the Carmel Adult School, Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte will relinquish the chair to Henry Meade Williams, former editor of American Magazine. Mr. Williams, whose work has appeared in the big magazines for many years, will conduct the forum on short story technique and will give his own criticism of several stories which members of the class have voted the best produced during this semester.

All writers and would-be writers who wish to attend should appear at room 11, Sunset School, at 7:30 p. m., November 22. There is no admission charge.

The big advantage of the train is ROOM

ROOM to stretch your legs

You don't have to fold up in a cramped, uncomfortable seat when you travel by train. You can stretch your legs, relax and watch the scenery in comfort. Steel rails are so smooth you can read without straining your eyes. Or catch up on your work.

ROOM to walk around

You're not confined to your seat on the train. You can get up and walk around whenever you wish. Comfortable rest rooms for men and women in every car.

ROOM to eat

On the train you eat in style at a table, with clean linen, good food and service. You pay no more than you would in any good hotel. In coffee shop cars even less.

ROOM for luggage

You can take a normal amount of luggage into your railroad car with you. In addition, on most tickets, you can check 150 pounds in the baggage car, without charge.

ROOM to sleep

Pullmans have big, comfortable beds—each more than six feet long and three feet wide. Soft mattresses, clean sheets, plenty of blankets. A courteous porter is always on duty to serve you. And when it's windy, stormy and wet, you'll be snug and warm on the train.

Next time, try the train

HI CHATTER

By Nancy Page

The bonfire rally last week before the big game with Pacific Grove really boosted everyone's spirit, with the cheer leaders leading yells around the huge fire, and the serpentine down into town. After leaving the school and gathering in the park, rooters formed into a long chain, and, making their way up and down Ocean Avenue, wound their way through several of the shops which were open that night. Even the post office seemed like a place to practice more yells, and the whole affair was climaxed by a yell for the Carmel Police Department, without whose co-operation the serpentine wouldn't have been possible. Rally Club members did the planning, collected wood for the fire, and even made a dummy of a football player representing Pacific Grove, which was roasted over the fire. Maybe the rally really did help Carmel to win the game, but at any rate we have the "shoe" in our trophy case for the next year, and we hope even longer.

Individual senior pictures for the yearbook were taken this week, with Wednesday, Thursday, and part of Friday being reserved for an appointment for each member of the class. The pictures were taken at the high school to save trips to the photographer's. Although the book doesn't come out until June, taking the pictures this far ahead of time saves a last minute rush, and since portraits make good Christmas gifts, they'll be ready in time for that, too.

Under managers Linda Bain and Donna Douglas, after-school archery is well under way with nearly 30 girls signed up for the tournament which is now going on. The contest, which goes on the basis of accumulated scores, began on Monday, November 8, and will end shortly before Christmas vacation. Each girl shoots twice a week, with four days each week reserved for archery.

Members of the football team, their fathers, and honored guests attended the fourth annual father and son football banquet, held Tuesday evening in the high school cafeteria. Under the sponsorship of the Block C, a program following the dinner featured talks by Carmel's Coach George Mosolf; Dan Dillon, coach at Monterey Peninsula College; Bob Robinette, coach at Hartnell College in Salinas; A. B. Ingham, C. I. F. insurance representative; and Art Harber, season captain of the team and Block C president. Musical entertainment was furnished by Delfo Giglio on the violin and Lanny Doolittle on the piano. Reverend Seccombe gave the invocation. The decorations, under the direction of Edward Kincaid and the high school art department, featured the newly-won football trophy as the main theme, with miniature photos of the trophy on each place card. Mrs. Jacqueline Crosby and her staff were in charge of the actual dinner, serving over 100 people, while Walt Frey and Art Harber made arrangements for the guests, planned the seating, and took care of the financial end of things.

Norma Wiley Will Sing, Symphony Will Play So Carmel Youngsters Can Be Warm In New Swimming Pool

By Col. Philip Schneeberger

The accomplishments of Norma Wiley, Salinas, who will be the first vocal soloist to perform with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra at its concert on November 23, are wide indeed. Besides being a professional singer and voice teacher, she is a dancer and holds an important secretarial job. And this clever girl is a housewife who also makes her own concert gowns. Her training, as well as her experience in light opera and concertizing, have not been confined to her home area but have extended as far as Hollywood where she studied and appeared on various concert and radio programs.

In the Symphony Association's first concert, Norma Wiley will present arias from Carmen and The Marriage of Figaro, both with orchestral accompaniment. She will also premier a song composed and orchestrated by Lorell McCann, one of the conductors. The balance of the program will comprise symphonic numbers ranging from Mozart's beautiful G Minor Symphony to works by contemporary composers, including our own Morton Gould. As usual McCann will share conducting honors with Clifford Anderson, Monterey.

This coming concert at the Sunset School Auditorium is being sponsored by the Lions Club of Carmel. The Lions' share of the proceeds will be applied to the swimming and diving pools of the Carmel High School. That club has committed itself to several projects pertaining to the pools, the first, and most costly, being to install radiant heat in the concrete decks alongside the pools. While adding to the pleasure of the summertime users of the pools, it will be most appreciated by swimmers during the school year. Emerging from heated water and standing around on cold concrete in chilly breezes will inevitably result in lips as blue as the skies over our shores. High school students, and grade schoolers, too, have now a double stake in attending the next symphony concerts. Besides the "discourse of sweet sound" that should leave them with an inner glow, they can now anticipate that their share in the concerts should bring an outer glow when the winter winds blow and the sun is in hiding for the moment. They can secure tickets at several stores in Carmel, in Abinante's Music Store in Monterey, and at Colman's Music Store in Pacific Grove.

HELSLEY TO YOSEMITE

Hilary Helsley, Monterey Peninsula resident Field Scout executive for the past five years, was transferred Monday to a similar position in the Yosemite area council, the Monterey Bay Area Boy Scout Council said this week. Folkman D. Brown of the local council staff will serve the Peninsula district until another field executive is appointed.

The change is part of routine personnel procedure designed to give scouting career men a well-rounded training experience in several areas, with the ultimate aim of a council executive position. Mrs. Helsley and their two children, Ellen and Walter, will remain at the family residence in Pacific Grove until living accommodations can be arranged in Turlock, where Helsley will have his headquarters.

TOOL THEFT

Theft of a Thor skill saw, valued at $110, from a construction job at Lincoln and Second streets, was reported Friday morning by Linley J. Daniels, Stolte, Inc., foreman. The saw was part of the equipment in use at the David Martin residence, and was the property of the construction firm, Daniels told Carmel police.

Lads and Lassies Bonnie and Gay

"We found most everybody full of health and good spirit the length and breadth of Scotland," said Miss Mary Ada Torras, who has with her sister, Willette and her mother, Mrs. V. A. Torras, just returned from a three months' tour of the British Isles.

"Mother having been born in Scotland had a grand time re-visiting the scenes of her childhood and renewing old acquaintances," continued Miss Torras. "We visited mother's sister, Mrs. James Cherry in Glasgow. There was a general air of optimism and everyone was certainly well fed. Of course meat is still rationed and sweets, particularly sugar, candy and butter are scarce. But we found none of this pessimism that one hears is prevalent across the Atlantic."

Mrs. Torras and her two daughters returned on the New Amsterdam two weeks ago, reaching Carmel last Monday.

Going East For Winter

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crocker closed their Pebble Beach home yesterday and, with their small son, Charles, Junior, and six-year-old Suzanne, left for New York City. After a short time there they will spend the rest of the winter in Florida, returning to Carmel in the spring.

Clive Rayne Is Married

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Rayne motored to La Jolla last Thursday to attend the wedding of their son, Clive, and Miss Sally M. Mezger. The nuptials took place before a picture window overlooking the mountains and the sea in the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rosebrooks, Muirlands, La Jolla.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Morris Mezger of La Jolla and Virginia, was given away by Mr. Rosebrooks. She wore a gown of heavy white faille, and, replacing the traditional veil, a circlet of stephanitis. Her bouquet was of white orchids. Mrs. Mezger wore a printed silk formal afternoon ensemble with a corsage of mauve orchids. Mrs. Rayne, mother of the groom, was charming in the softest of blue printed crepes accented with pink and black. She also wore orchids.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George C. Culbertson of the La Jolla Presbyterian Church, and was followed by a reception and buffet supper.

The bride is a graduate of Castilleja School of Palo Alto. The bridegroom attended Carmel High School and Salinas Junior College.

Following a Palm Springs wedding trip the newly married couple will live in Carmel, where Clive will be associated in business with his brother, Derek Rayne.

Returns For Visit

Mrs. Edith Del Monte is entertaining as her house guest her former partner, Miss Maxine Ferguson, now of Long Beach. Miss Ferguson expects to stay in town about ten days seeing all her old friends. She and Mrs. Del Monte were co-owners of the Maxine Shop which, because of Miss Ferguson's health, they sold last spring.

Alison McKenna Weds

An exquisite bride, Alison McKenna, the daughter of Mrs. Lillian McKenna of Carmel and George A. McKenna of Hope Ranch Park, Santa Barbara, was married in the Church of the Wayfarer last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock to Walter James Fairweather of San Francisco. Mr. Fairweather is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Fairweather of La Grange, Illinois. The Rev. Paul S. Bourns officiated.

Walking down a white taper-lit aisle, beautifully decorated with white carnations and satin ribbon, the bride, on the arm of her brother, Quentin McKenna, wore the traditional white satin fashioned upon simple lines, her fingertip veil of silk illusion coroneted with seed pearls. She wore also an intricately designed necklace set with diamonds, belonging to the groom's mother and carried a cascade bouquet of bouvardia, white orchids and carnations. Alison's sister, Mrs. Anthony Gunterman of Santa Barbara, was her matron of honor, her "picture" gown with bustled bouffant skirt and puff sleeves was of aqua brocade. The maid of honor was Mrs. Bruce Moorehead, a former classmate of the bride's at Mills College, and the bridesmaid was Miss Randalyn Crosby of La Jolla, a Bishop School classmate of the bride. All of the attendants' gowns were similar in character and color, and they carried cascade bouquets of apricot, pink and yellow carnations.

Anthony Gunterman, brother-in-law of the bride, acted as best man. The ushers were John Deacon of San Mateo and Al Zadig of San Francisco.

Mrs. McKenna was gowned in a formal afternoon dress of gray crepe, she wore a softly feathered hat and her corsage was of orchids.

Following the church service a reception was held in the Indian Room of Del Monte Lodge. Mrs. Quentin McKenna (Barbara Williamson of Pomona) whose marriage to Alison's brother took place in September, served. She was charming in pink taffeta bustled with gardenias.

Amid a shower of rice and good wishes the newlyweds departed for Palm Springs. Their future home will be Mill Valley. Mrs. Fairweather wore a suit of blue wool with gray accessories and carried a gray top coat.

D. A. R. Meets

Mrs. Marcia F. DeVoe presided at the meeting on Tuesday evening of the Commodore Sloat Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Frisbee. It was announced that the state conference of the D. A. R. will be held in San Jose, March 22 to 25, and the Carmel chapter will act as one of the hostess groups.

Following the business meeting an address was given by Major N. E. Mitchell, head of the Slavic language division of the U. S. Army Language School, Presidio of Monterey.

Delicious Thanksgiving refreshments were served. Those present included: Miss Genevieve Reed, Miss Sue Estelle Tuck, Mrs. Marion Finell, Mrs. Roy W. Frisbee, Mrs. L. F. Bambauer, Mrs. Marcia DeVoe, Mrs. Harriet U. Russell, Miss Mary Frances Hairgrove, Mrs. Minerva Beard, Miss Elizabeth Merrill and Mrs. Mace Pewtherer.

San Jose Grads To Celebrate

San Jose State College will hold its first fall homecoming since 1934 starting next Tuesday and climaxing Friday night with the St. Mary's-San Jose State football game at Spartan stadium, where the alumni will occupy a special bloc of seats.

The Hotel Sainte Claire will be used as alumni headquarters, with a special luncheon conference being held there at 1 o'clock on Friday, November 26.

Active members of the alumni association in Carmel include Ernest R. Calley, Miss Elizabeth A. Knight, Mrs. M. Mai McGrury, Mrs. Mark T. Raggett, Judd Stull, Mrs. Bernard H. Schulte, Samuel K. Wight and Miss Margaret M. Wishart.

Entertaining Today

Mrs. Helen Clark Park and Mrs. Rhea Diveley will entertain at tea this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Richard Bower. Mrs. Edward Cochrane will pour. Dr. Bower and his family have moved to Carmel recently from Kansas City.

Filipino Community Reception

Invitations were mailed out last week to a reception and dance in honor of incoming and outgoing officers of the Filipino Community of Monterey Peninsula to be held on Sunday evening at the American Legion Hall on Dolores street.

The incoming officers are: Plaridel Macahilig, president; Angelo Blanquera, vice-president; Miss Nelly Nestor, secretary; Mrs. Plaridel Macahilig, assistant secretary; Mrs. Maria Yebon, treasurer, and Fred Domingo, assistant treasurer. Sergeants at Arms: Benny Sta Maria, Joe Reynolds, and Epifanio Faruson.

Outgoing officers: Gregario C. Aquino, Jr., president; Mrs. Mary Macahilig, vice-president; Delfin Rondario, secretary; Mrs. Maria Yebon, treasurer, and Felizardo Concepcion, assistant treasurer.

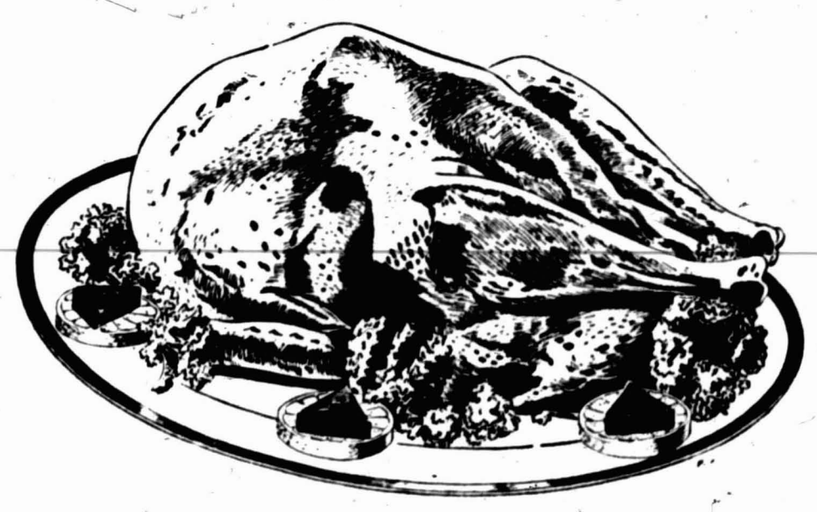
Cooking a turkey?



It's as "easy as pie" with an AUTOMATIC RANGE

Here's how to get the bird ready...

Choose a plump turkey with a smooth, moist skin. Clean. Wash inside and out with warm water. Pat dry. Rub inside with salt...about ⅛ teaspoon to each pound of turkey. Stuff loosely with wild rice or your favorite dressing. Fill chest and cavity first. Draw neck skin over it and fasten with skewer. Then fill body cavity. Place long skewer across body opening and lace shut with strong cord. Use ends of cord to tie legs to tail. Rub skin with unsalted fat. Place turkey breast-side down on V-shaped rack in bright, low-sided pan. Do not cover. Basting is not necessary if you use cooking chart below. To prevent over-browning toward the end of roasting time, cover bird with cloth that has been dipped in melted fat.

...and here's how to cook the bird

University Women Style Study

Transferred at the last minute from the Monterey Peninsula College because of inadequate accommodations, to the Carmel High School music room, the American Association of University Women saw a demonstration put on by Mrs. Jacqueline Crosby on Wednesday evening of appropriate dress for many occasions. The change of place was announced on Tuesday, but despite the lateness of the word, a large audience of members and guests witnessed the affair. Mrs. John Gratiot, chairman for social studies in the A. A. U. W., arranged for the program.

Dresses and hair styles from Peninsula stores and beauty parlors ranged from a basic black dress worn successively with three different sets of accessories and shoes by Mrs. H. P. Underwood, through striking smocks with hand-painted designs, mother-and-daughter set, house and marketing dresses, outfits for shopping and luncheon, another for afternoon and dinner in town, sports clothes so popular in this area, and finally formals in several types, one of them adapted to slight change in drapery and addition of colorful artificial corsage and matching belt of velvet ribbon. Most of the outfits were designed for a moderate budget.

Mrs. Underwood, a retired high school teacher of merchandising and graduate of the Prince School in Boston, announced herself as the problem child of the stylist, as she is neither tall nor slender nor young. She called attention to the good taste of her hair style, the harmony between jewelry, handbag, and gray hair, and the slenderizing effect of the cut and simple trimming of the dress. Little Susan Trevett appeared in the mother-daughter pair, and alone in a child's personalized dress with her name painted in the decorations around the hem of a gay yellow skirt.

Other models in the demonstration were Mrs. Umlauss of Fort Ord, and Mrs. Vern Williams, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Roger Gammon, Mrs. Carl Albertus, and Mrs. Norman Naas, president of the A. A. U. W. Armand and the Charm Beauty Den were responsible for the attractive coiffures; Avis Hansen's shop for colorful and practical smocks, corsage on the black outfit was from Miraflor's, and the dresses and accessories were from Holman's, Wilma Campbell's shop, and Gail Coupe's shop. Jewelry worn by Mrs. Underwood was furnished by the Village Jewelers. A considerable display of attractive yardage goods of excellent quality draped on tables in the room came from Putnam and Raggett. It included cottons, rayon, silk, and woollen goods, and the good points in style, colors, and quality were explained by Miss Ruth Blanchard.

Mrs. Crosby, home economics expert, opened her demonstration with an amusing sketch of the evolution of style and variety in clothing—men were to blame for much of it—with brief descriptions of our grandmother's, and more remote ancestors' pet fashions and foibles. She stressed the importance of careful selection and appropriateness of the garments chosen, and attention to budget limitations. Her direction of the models and pointing out the advantages of the various styles added interest for the audience. A social half hour and light refreshments served by Miss Harriet Baker's committee concluded the evening.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Soul and Body is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Christian Science churches on Sunday, November 21. The Golden Text is taken from Psalms: "Rejoice the soul of thy servant: for unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul" (86:4).

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

The Bible: "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage" (Galatians 5:1).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind is the Soul of man, and gives man dominion over all things" (p. 307).

THANKSGIVING DAY
LESSON-SERMON

"Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High" (Psalms 50:14). This is the Golden Text for the Lesson-Sermon to be read as part of the Thanksgiving Day service in Christian Science churches. The subject of the sermon is "Thanksgiving."

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

The Bible: "I will mention the lovingkindnesses of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses" (Isaiah 63:7).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is Love. Can we ask Him to be more? God is intelligence. Can we inform the infinite Mind of anything He does not already comprehend? Do we expect to change perfection? Shall we plead for more at the open fount, which is pouring forth more than we accept? The unspoken desire does bring us nearer the source of all existence and blessedness" (p. 2).

DOLORES ST.—Between Ocean and 6th CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

With Mary Madeleine

Even a modern child will find herself full of curtsies and courtesies in the endearingly feminine holiday party garb just in at GLADYS McCLOUD'S SHOP FOR GIRLS and TEENS on Dolores street. Very Renoir portrait are the dark velveteens for 7 to 14; tiny embroidered flowers are sprinkled over the bodice and there's a tiny lace ruffle at the neck. There's more lace on neck and sleeve on velveteens with tucks across the bodice, these in a melting copen and American Beauty Rose. For sub-teens there are charming corduroys. Big sisters will love the moire or faille models with brief cap sleeves. Mothers will approve the full skirts and simplicity of all. Point is, GLADYS McCLOUD carries a full size range; and the prices are most surprising, all the way from six to twenty dollars.

Superb turkeys for Thanksgiving, it goes without saying, are currently featured at TURNEY'S MEAT MARKET in the Carmel Drive-In on Dolores street. What you may not have known is that here you may buy a half turkey, in case your family is small, but set on traditional menus. Of course many people choose a roasting chicken for a small gathering, if good ones are to be found. Good? "Why say," says Mr. Turney, "we practically know each one by first name!" For these are special chickens from a special source, specially raised and corn fed, specially ordered for Thanksgiving. Ask for their family history when you go to TURNEY'S MEAT MARKET.

Blue ribbons to the Sargents at TWIGS OF CARMEL in the Golden Bough Court just off Ocean Avenue, for their exclamation provoking collection of dog portraits in porcelain. As something of a crusader of good small pieces of sculpture in the home I was skeptic till I saw them—and wait till you do! There are twenty-five different breeds. The taffy cocker is wistful, the harlequin great Dane is sadly dignified, the Irish setter tender, the Boston bulls, whimsical. Reason for the charm of these pieces is that they really are portraits, modeled directly from champions, by Fred Press and Jan Allen. The dogs in this "Contemporary Collection" of signed originals in finest domestic porcelain are more than "cute" gifts, they are pieces of very realistic art. Prices are remarkably low, ranging from $1.50 to $20. Take the children to TWIGS OF CARMEL, to see them in the window.

If you want to have time to enjoy your out of town guests over Thanksgiving, to give them the unique flavor of Carmel, and still see that they have a super holiday dinner, you can accomplish all three wishes by just whisking them up to the CAROUSEL for Thanksgiving dinner beside the fireplace. Besides the usual superb dishes which have made the CAROUSEL reputation, there'll be turkey and ham and all the proper fixin's. And, at the same time you and your guests can see the new one man art exhibition there, this time starring the work of Sophie Harpe, director of art at Monterey High, whose work is on the modern side, in a variety of moods and techniques.

Now there is good news—you can have a traditional Thanksgiving dinner at home with next to no work, even if you aren't a culinary expert yet! For the CARMEL BAKERY on Ocean Avenue offers you whole roast turkeys and baked hams, as well as the whole list of traditional sweets, such as mince or pumpkin pie, fruit cake and plum pudding. Do look over the fine assortment of cookies while you are shopping at the CARMEL BAKERY, for a full cookie jar for young visitors on holiday weekends adds no end to the reputation of a hostess.

Make a memo for when you shop, Christmas cards at the BY THE SEA SHOP on the corner of Dolores and Fifth. Not only do the Edwards carry Kem plastic playing cards, and various favorite adult games, (poker chips, and racks and stuff, too), but a nice selection of children's pre-school educational toys, as well as children's books. BY THE SEA SHOP also has those wonderful "Lincoln Logs" from which small fry can construct all kinds of little cabins and trucks; incidentally this is a wonderful visiting present to reduce family confusion by keeping the young occupied.

Couldn't be more timely, the announcement that MURL OGDEN is opening a branch studio in Monterey at the Casa Munras Shopping Center! Particularly since he says they (Vivian Ogden and himself) plan to give special attention to portraits of children at moderate rates. To give a photograph for Christmas is really to give oneself, and what fond aunt or granny wouldn't choose a new record of young ones above all other things? But do make your appointments now if you don't want to be disappointed. Incidentally, MURL OGDEN says he is constantly startled by people's misconceptions of his prices. So don't be scared just because he's so good!

Parties Precede Wedding

Last Saturday was a busy day for the members of Miss Alison McKenna's bridal party. Following the rehearsal on Saturday afternoon the bride's mother, Mrs. Lillian S. McKenna, entertained at cocktails. Besides Alison's attendants there were friends from all over the Peninsula, Berkeley, Alameda and San Francisco.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrington and their two daughters, Joan and Ruth, gave a buffet supper for the bridal party and husbands and wives. Pink flowers and tall white candles turned the Harrington's beautiful dining room into a veritable fairy scene.

SANDY GRIFFIN, YOUR HOST.

With Mary Madeleine

When you give books to children for Christmas, be sure to inscribe your name and the date... that years later, when they are lovingly reopened, memory of the giver may be enjoyed, too. For though they may be received more quietly than a toy, books are the cherished present. THE VILLAGE BOOK SHOP on Ocean Avenue has three particular suggestions. The Truant Tricycle, by Francis Marion, with pictures by C. Leslie Crandall, takes the runaway "Ting-a-ling" through the streets of San Francisco, so this seems a must for Carmel children to know their big city. Acquaintance with a little Chinese boy of that city adds some good one-world indoctrination. This is to read to 3 to 6, to be read by 6 to 9. The Jack and Jill Story Book is a prize package of many varied pieces from Jack and Jill magazine, edited and selected by Ada Campbell Rose. The imaginative or adventuresome, the amusing, history, folk customs, animal stories—all are included in what is probably the greatest vavietry volume on the market for the 6 to 10 year old. It's illustrated, of course. Cocola by Bettina, for 5 to 8, is the sweetly gentle tale of a little donkey who turns the wheel of an old well, and enchanting Babbo, the fisherman, Mamma and little Lucio. THE VILLAGE BOOKSHOP thinks that the superb and abundant illustrations in both color and black and white make this perfect for an artist's child.

Christmas stockings for dogs and cats? But certainly. You'll find them at JEZEBEL'S DOG HOUSE on San Carlos south of Ocean—chock full of goodies and toys—rapturous chewy things like rubber mice and bones, and catnip creatures. And there's a good supply of single toys. Do trot your small fry in to make their own purchases for their special friends. Slightly more sedate are the additions to a well-dressed pet's wardrobe — bright little sweaters and blankets, and very doggy collars and leashes in red and green as well as brown and black. Training collars and chains are here, too, of course. The shop has a new supply of beds and pet carriers, also. You probably know all about the fresh horse meat at the JEZEBEL DOG HOUSE, but in addition to the usual wide assortment of dry and canned foods, Mr. McCoy has something special in canned food, consisting of 94 per cent meat and marrow.

You give poetry and philosophy, as well as indefinitely lasting decor beauty when you give a Ming Tree from FLOR DE MONTEREY, for the tiny figurines of Chinese scholars, priests or poets which stand under the out-flung miniature branches just naturally make you pause and reflect. There is a new shipment of these inspired gifts newly in, and a good thing, too, since thoughtful friends keep having them shipped out all over the country. (Special packing is a courtesy of the shop.) They come in misty greens and chartreuse and gray and a rich terra cotta. When you visit the FLOR DE MONTEREY, ask to see their extensive collection of pottery flower containers, make a note of favorites to be used for future orders of flowers, and buy some to send alone to a friend who dotes on creating her own home still-life pieces.

Tailored they may be as far as simplicity and practicality, but the lush nylon nighties at HARRIET DUNCAN'S spell lovely lady to me. They are sheer as two denier stockings, weigh only five ounces, emerge in the morn unwrinkled, and come in angelically seductive high flying shades: horizon blue, dawn glow, cloud white, sea foam and mimosa. Prices are from $8.95 to $14.95, and you can have a touch of nylon net or lace if you wish, and slips to match most. HARRIET DUNCAN scarce needs to remind you that these nylons dry fast, need no ironing, endure indefinitely and won't run ... but perhaps you didn't know that the white won't turn yellow. This is a glamor plus sense gift, from one woman to another.

Guests for Thanksgiving weekend are no problem on the score of linens if you are acquainted with the LITTLE GEM LAUNDRAMATIC, Junipero at Fourth. Just pop in the extra sheets and towels and the machine will cheerfully handle the extra work without a murmur while you do Christmas shopping. Remember that you can rent the automatic ironer to finish the job there, too. The LITTLE GEM LAUNDRAMATIC reminds you that stains on holiday tablecloths should be treated before washing, and do check with attendant on proper temperature and speed for delicate fabrics.

Not whole meats, of course—it should have been whole wheats last week, from the MONTEREY HEALTH FOOD CENTER at 146 Bonifacio street. Whole-hearted delight in a present from the whole family will be friends' reaction to a real California gift from this shop—a basket of truly fresh fruit. The assortments, much bedecked in cellophane and ribbon, include fresh oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes, apples, avocados, dates, figs and nuts. The Assorted Fruit Box offers 12 pounds for $4.95; the Fiesta, a gardening basket, is 12 pounds for $6.95; the Luxury, a big centerpiece basket, is 20 pounds for $11.95. These weights are all net; and the charge includes special packing for shipping and express charges to bring your gift on the exact day you wish it to arrive. Providing, of course, you order it in time, so be early — the phone is Monterey 5931. Luscious California Sun Dried Fruits, naturally sun-dried, not candied, mind you, make a very nice gift, too, and healthy besides! These are temptingly packaged in several sizes of redwood boxes.

Even little girls want to give ties to daddy or brother; at the POKE ABOUT SHOP on Ocean Avenue, neither big nor little can go wrong in choice, for they have a special group of hand tailored, 100 per cent wool ties in quiet plaids, checks and solids that will please any Carmel tweedy male, and these are reduced in price, too! Another special gift buy at the POKE ABOUT SHOP is the pine-scented stationery, with several designs in a box. Note size is now priced at three boxes for $2.00 (75c apiece); and regular size three for $3.00 ($1.25 apiece). The lovely fragrance can encourage young ones to write, remind friends of Carmel, lend urgency to invitations here.

Here's a happy solution for budgets strained by gift giving time, or the HCofL in general: the SAN CARLOS KIDDY SHOPPE at 136 Bonifacio in Monterey maintains a children's clothing exchange. When Junior outgrows that expensive top coat, trot it in and sell it, and buy someone else's outgrown outfit in the next size, thereby saving many a penny. Likely you'll need to leave a request on your needs, for things march in and out mighty fast, so inspired is this service, so good are the clothes. Of course, the SAN CARLOS KIDDY SHOPPE carries the top brands in children's new clothing. The exchange is just a friendly service.

Californian pride will out at Christmas, and what more special gift to out-of-staters than our own products? At the CARMEL DELICATESSEN you can cross names off lists like crazy with different size gift packages containing luscious plump glazed fruits, dates, nuts, Calimyrna and Black Mission Figs. The three pound size comes packed in either a little wood serving tray or a small basket; four pound on a scarlet metal sandwich tray; five pound in a handsome wooden nut bowl. The CARMEL DELICATESSEN will do the packing and shipping for you. Don't forget their own candies, satiny hard Christmas stuff, and the whipped cream fudge with walnuts, and of course, at least one box of the Marzipan, which duplicates fruit, to children's delight.

When you pop into EL FUMADOR on Dolores street for the latest issue of your favorite magazine, stop, look, and buy a perfect "little" gift for the woman who smokes. EL FUMADOR has just gotten in the new feminine version of the De-Nicotea cigarette holder, with the crystal filter inserts —made, as you know, by Alfred Dunhill, tops in smoker's equipment. Captain Bosshardt says women have been buying the man's style, because they work so well, and that was all that was available. Now you can find a longer, more slender type in lipstick red, white, shell or black, with the chrome tip, at only $3.50.

Give Real Art For Xmas, Slogan Of New Gallery Corner

This year the Carmel Art Association Gallery is inaugurating a Christmas Corner, set up in the curator's office, where gift shoppers may see for themselves that it need not be costly to give originals for Christmas. Tiny figurines of driftwood, small pieces of sculpture, moderate priced prints and water colors are all represented there, and one may come away with a piece of beauty for less than a five dollar bill.

This new feature is part of the Association's endeavor to stimulate the public to think in terms of buying art for the home, to enjoy continually, not just to see it occasionally at exhibits, and to diminish the general misconception that original pieces are necessarily fabulously expensive. This step is the result of public enthusiasm for the room which used to be set aside for small inexpensive pieces, but which had to be discontinued some time ago because of the Gallery's very cramped quarters.

"We hope to maintain a special section for those with slim purses, until the proposed new building gives us added space," says Mrs. Montague. "Meantime, why not give 'real art' for Christmas?"

Edgar Frazier

Edgar G. Frazier, retired university professor who made his home at Eighth and Scenic Road for the past six years, died Monday afternoon at a Peninsula hospital. He was a native of Moline, Illinois.

He is survived by his wife, Mabel S. Frazier, Carmel, and a daughter, Miss Margaret J. Frazier of San Francisco. Private services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Little Chapel by the Sea crematorium, Pacific Grove, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements.
